

METROPOLIS

DESIGN THE FUTURE
Summer 2025

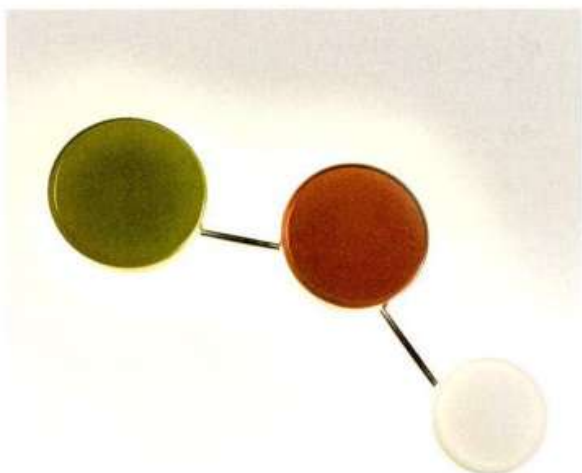

FUTURE
100

Remaking

American

Design

FORTH Hotel in Atlanta by Morris Adjmi
Architects

02

03

04

05

02 CAMEL
JOAN GASPAR FOR MARSET

Eclectically hued, near-opaque colorways are the star of the show in Joan Gaspar's Caramel sconce collection for Marset. With an atom-like structure, the sconces allow light to diffuse through deeply toned, subtly reflective blown glass disks, giving the geometric luminaires a graphic quality in their various modular configurations, taking pride of place, if necessary, in pared back interiors. marset.com

03 THE INSULA
PATRICIA URQUIOLA FOR KETTEL

Fostering fluid social and communal exchange is the thinking behind renowned Spanish designer Patricia Urquiola's new Insula indoor-outdoor sofa system for Kettel. She drew inspiration from the traditional setups found in Arab majlis (sitting rooms). Carefully balanced proportions are reflected in adaptable roll backrests that delimit different pitlike configurations, large or small. kettel.com

04 LEPLI ARMCHAIR
KENSAKU OSHIRO FOR POLTRONA FRAU

Harnessing Italian manufacturer Poltrona Frau's prowess in leather craft and upholstery, Japanese designer Kensaku Oshiro first developed the Lepli as a pouf, but at this year's Milan Design Week, he debuted an armchair iteration. Defined by the same compact dimensions and swollen, sensual formal language—contained by a belt element—the design is ideal for various applications. poltronafrau.com

05 HORIZON COLLECTION
DOUGAN CLARKE FOR TUUCI

Tapping into its seafaring origins, American outdoor furnishings brand Tuuci presented the Horizon Collection. Developed by the company's founder, Dougan Clarke, the seating system emphasizes clean lines and low-slung armatures that don't obstruct the settings they inhabit. The Aluma-Forge cold-weld construction and wood-grain Aluma-TEAK finish, accented with a signature bezel bar and button trim, create a design that blends timeless elegance with durability. tuuci.com